Background Story

I developed my career at Microsoft, where I worked in complex enterprise settings, building a solid foundation in strategy, stakeholder engagement, and delivering large-scale results. This background informs my leadership style—disciplined, collaborative, and execution-oriented.

Alongside my career, I am deeply committed to philanthropic efforts focused on youth development and expanding access to opportunities. I see business as a powerful force for both economic progress and social change.

Currently, I am involved in developing and supporting ventures that combine business strength with purpose, with the long-term goal of fostering sustainable, impact-driven ecosystems across Africa.

Career Highlight

Microsoft (2003-2021)

At Microsoft, I gained valuable experience in complex enterprise settings, honing my skills in strategic stakeholder engagement, governance, and operational execution. I participated in initiatives that required cross-team collaboration and partner coordination, aligning technology solutions with organisational goals and measurable results. This experience strengthened my ability to operate at the nexus of business and technology—managing large-scale programs, cultivating trusted relationships with leaders and partners, and ensuring strategy translates into tangible outcomes. These insights continue to influence my approach to leadership, partnerships, and the development of initiatives that generate lasting value and impact.
